As I have been reading the manuals for my Elmo Doc Camera, the only really cool thing that I wasn't utilizing was the adjustment of the brightness. It really helps to bring out the text on white paper if you increase the levels almost to the top but if you are using something with a colored background...just a little less brings out the colors. I would have thought that the other way would be correct...live and learn. The other equipment in my room is working very well.

I did need to change the model of LCD that I have in the ceiling mount It is an Eiki s200.

My kids think it is really cool when I step up on a chair and then on the table top t adjust the projector. I just look at them and ask if they happen to have a ladder in their backpack and may I borrow it.
